McDonald Scores British Policy

Nine honorary degrees were awarded at the ordination and commencement exercises of the Jewish Institute of Religion, 40 West Sixty-eight Street, New York.

Dr. James G. McDonald, member of the Anglo-American Committee of Inquiry on Palestine who recently returned to the U. S., received one of the awards and delivered the commencement address, in which he declared the British authority in Palestine was "morally responsible" for terrorism there.

Dr. McDonald, formerly League of Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, said the British were "maintaining an illegal and immoral policy of exclusion of Jews."

"Palestine is now a police state, compared with which Germany seems a free state," Dr. McDonald declared.

In addition to Dr. McDonald, honorary degrees of Doctor of Hebrew Letters were conferred by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the institute, upon the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, Auxiliary Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Chicago, and Channing H. Tobias, director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund, which promotes Negro education.

Praising the hard work and community spirit of "Jewish pioneers" in Palestine, Dr. McDonald characterized the country as "an ideal laboratory for divinity students, both Jewish and Christian," and urged them to visit the Holy Land for at least a year as "internship" for their profession.

A capacity audience of 600 attended the exercises, at which honorary degrees of Doctor of Hebrew Letters were awarded also to Dr. Ulrich Tchernowitz, pro-

Ask Halt To Flow Of Jews

A British request that the fifty-five United Nations act "to discourage illegal immigration" into Palestine during the U. N. investigation of the Holy Land has been forwarded to member governments by Secretary General Trygve Lie.

The British request, sent to Mr. Lie on May 28 by Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent U. N. delegate, on instructions from Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, and forwarded to U. N. member nations on May 29, is a modified form of the note filed with the U. N. on April 21 and then mysteriously withdrawn after what at the time was reported to be intervention by the United States delegation.

In April, before the General Assembly met to try to seek a solution to the Palestine problem and approved a resolution calling on all governments and peoples to refrain during the U. N. study from action which might create an atmosphere prejudical to an early settlement of the question, the New York Herald Tribune revealed the filing of the original British note and its subsequent withdrawal.

At that time, however, neither the British or the American delegations would comment on the matter, and it was not known that the British had since re-filed it in modified form. Mr. Lie released the text of the British request together with his own letter to U. N. member governments. The new note is based primarily on the "refrain-from-action" resolution of the Assembly.

In his letter, Mr. Lie asked member countries to inform him of action taken by them in connection with the British request.

The British note called attention to the resolution and then de-

NOTICE TO REVIEW SUBSCRIBERS

With the issue of July 4, 1947, the Canadian Jewish Review will raise its subscription price to $2 per year; $3 for two years in Canada. The subscription price in the United States and other countries outside of Canada will be $3 per year; $5 for two years. These changes are due to the rising cost of everything that goes into the production of the Canadian Jewish Review, and the new rate will take effect with subscriptions received on July 1, 1947, and after.

Calls Partition Sole Zionist Solution

Another influential voice was raised in Palestine to advocate a Zionist decision for the partition of Palestine.

Undaunted by the storm of controversy stirred up by Ben Gurion, chairman of the Executive of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, Z. Aharonowitz, acting treasurer of the General Federation of Jewish Labor, echoed David Ben-Gurion's statement almost word for word.

In an article in Davar, Zionist Labor newspaper, Mr. Aharonowitz wrote:

"It is obvious that there are no Zionist prospects of obtaining at present the recognition of our right to establish a Jewish state in the whole of Palestine. . . . The Zionist

Mr. Aharonowitz wrote as a member of the Labor party and an official of the Labor Federation, which has 130,000 members, but there was no suggestion that he spoke for either organization. A Jewish Agency spokesman made it plain that Mr. Aharonowitz in no way was presenting the views of the Agency Executive.

His article, however, clearly reflected the influence of the Executive's chairman, Mr. Ben-Gurion, who told the Jewish Assembly on May 22 that Palestine could not "immediately be transformed into a Jewish state in its entirety," but that "there is no reason why a Jewish State should not be set up immediately without any delay in those parts of it where there are Jews or which are desolate."

Saying that Zionists should not make things easy for their adversaries by posing numerous alternatives, Aharonowitz declared that partition was meeting a "growing response" among Arabs and had advocates in Britain, among a majority of pro-Zionist Americans, among influential British Empire statesmen, and "now has been proposed by representatives of the Soviet Union."

As originally put by Mr. Ben-Gurion, however, the proposals aroused protests in Palestine because it contradicted the official Zionist policy of asking for a Jewish State in Palestine without specifying its extent.

Despite protest, it is frequently said, even by some of the Right-Wing extremist underground, that partition would be accepted by Palestine Jews, though perhaps only as a temporary solution.

There was a plain implication both in Mr. Ben-Gurion's speech and Mr. Aharonowitz's article that they would not consider establishment of a Jewish State in part of Palestine as the final accomplishment of Zionism, reports the New York Times. Mr. Ben-Gurion made the clear reservation that other areas of the country should be retained under British mandate for the specific purpose of "bringing about conditions for immigration and settlement and to help raise the standard of living of Arab inhabitants."

What he proposed was that those areas of western and northern Palestine, which are thickly inhabited by Jews and the under-populated, under-developed and arid Negev, which composes nearly half of the country, should be made into a Jewish state.

Another demonstration was given that Zionists intend to continue developing a Jewish national home notwithstanding the United Na-

SAYS BERGSON GROUP WASTES MONEY

Moshe Shertok, member of the executive of the Jewish Agency for Palestine who returned from New York, reported that he had found in the United States a "wave of shallow sympathy" for terrorism in Palestine.

This sympathy is now abating, he added. He made the remark in saying that some newspaper reports from Palestine tended to glorify terrorism and hamper those resisting the terrorists' appeal.

To combat the propaganda and fund-raising campaigns of Peter Bergson and his associates, who have openly encouraged terrorists, Mr. Shertok said, the Zionist movement is "trying to organize a campaign of enlightenment among Jews to open their eyes to the freak charlatan aspect of that group, which is a partnership of charlatans and dupes". The Hebrew Committee of National Liberation and the American League for a Free Palestine are causing "a fair amount of good Jewish money" to be diverted to "useless and destructive ends," he asserted.

Reports No Match For DP Resiliency

A plan for rehabilitation of European Jewry "not pitched on philanthropy" was discussed at the national conference of Jewish social welfare in Baltimore, May-to Europe as well as to [illegible] and other countries through a limited immigration and resettlement program, speakers asserted.

The belief that German displaced persons are a collection of psychological cases was assailed by Leo W. Schwarz, who recently returned from Europe after directing Jewish relief in those camps for thirteen months.

"I have never had so exhilarating and stimulating an experience in my life as working with DP's," he said. "They are a remarkable group of human beings. There are very, very few who cannot be totally rehabilitated in a short time. Their resiliency and vitality is unmatched."

Endeavoring to correct what he called "another erroneous concept of the DP in the American mind," Mr. Schwarz said that there was no barbed wire "around any German DP camp," and that the smallest group among the displaced persons were the people from the horror camps.

"The survivors of concentration and extermination camps number only 29,000," he added. "A much larger group is the Partisans, comparable to the Jews in the French Resistance. They lived in the woods of Poland and Czechoslovakia during the war, and came over into the United States zone on liberation. They have in the main a more positive attitude than the first group.

"But by far the largest group are the repatriates from Russia. This is a very important fact to keep in mind. They are men and women of normal families who settled on the other side of the Caucasus and engaged in war industries.

"They were repatriated to Poland and came on to Germany in the hope to get to Palestine or other countries. They are accustomed to working. They are not mentally or emotionally displaced.

"The camps as a whole represent a large number of extraordinary capabilities and diversified occupational skills."

Recalling that for Europe, as a whole, the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration last year "spent over a billion dollars and did not scratch the surface of relief, let alone rehabilitation," Mr. Schwarz argued that it was physically impossible for American Jewry to set for itself the goal of rehabilitating European Jewry.

"More and more, it will have to be the job of Europe's Governments and will have to come out of reparations and restitutions," he asserted.

There was no question that Eur-

BRITISH VETERANS UNITE TO OPPOSE FASCIST COME-BACK

British Fascists attempting a post-war comeback are encountering surprising opposition to the brand of anti-Semitism they have started preaching, reports the New York Times.

Husky hecklers well versed in answers to anti-Semitic statements and armed with the street-corner speakers' complete wartime records have been appearing with embarrassing regularity and in formidable numbers at Fascist gatherings. Many break up in fights. In one last week the speaker's stand was overturned and nine persons were arrested.

The opposition, which is militant, well disciplined and vocal, springs from the Forty-three Group, which started last fall as a formation of forty-three Jewish war veterans who became alarmed over the resurgence of anti-Semitic preachings. The group has grown to 500, fifty of them Christians.

Branches operate in Manchester, Birmingham and Sheffield, and units are projected for Liverpool, Southampton and other major cities. On July 1 the group expects to publish its own worthy paper, "On Guard," devoted to exposing Fascist elements.

Geoffrey Bernard, one of those evacuated from Dunkerque, originated the movement and heads the group. His vice chairman is Gerald Flamberg, a paratroop veteran of Arnheim and winner of the Military Medal for his exploits in North Africa and Europe.

"This is a non-political organization composed of Christians as well as Jews who are determined that Fascism and its accompanying racial and religious bigotry will not get foothold in post-war Britain," Mr. Barnard said. "Sir Oswald Mosley, who headed the British Union of Fascists and spent the war years in confinement along with a number of his adherents who also were locked up for the safety of the country while the war was on, are not going to be allowed the free hand they had in pre-war days to divide the nation and prepare the path for Fascism."

Mr. Flamberg contends there are about 5,000 active Fascists throughout Britain. His organization, he says, has learned that Sir Oswald and others have seized on the terrorist outrages in Palestine to "sell" anti-Semitism to the British public. According to the organization's under-cover investigations, he said, the Fascists are marking time until 1951, when they foresee acute economical distress in Britain and hope to gain power.

"There are about four active anti-Semitic and Fascist groups in Britain today," Mr. Flamberg add-

"Let me speak to the grocer, please . . ."

"I wanted to make sure my mommy ordered 'Junket' Rennet Powder so she can make part of my milk into rennet-custard desserts . . . Sure I love 'em! Who doesn't?"

Who indeed, for milk can be given delightfully different texture and a different flavor every day when made into rennet-custards. The rennet enzyme makes it even easier to digest, too. And rennet-custards are non-cooked, so milk keeps all its precious vitamins. The children and your whole family will enjoy rennet-custards — today!

Make rennet-custards with either "Junket" Brand Rennet Powder — six flavors, already sweetened; or "Junket" Rennet Tablets — not sweetened or flavored — add sugar and flavor to taste. Both at all grocers. Write "Junket" Brand Foods, Division of Chr. Hansen's Laboratory, Dept. J-3, Toronto, Can., for free sample of "Junket" Rennet Tablets.

MY! WHAT A Beautiful Kitchen!

BEAUTIFUL, yes—and practical, too. The floor is linoleum and there are linoleum tops on either side of the kitchen range and over the cupboards.

With linoleum—comfort, convenience and colour enter the kitchen. Floors are so much easier to walk on when they're cushioned with its restful resilience. Quickly and easily cleaned, it saves time and work, too. A waxing and polishing once a week, with light moppings in between, and linoleum keeps its bright, smart appearance indefinitely. And it's economical—wonderfully long-lasting—with low upkeep cost.

For every room in the house—The rich marble effects of Marboleum and the attractive plain colours of Dominion Battleship Linoleum offer a pleasing variety of choice to add charm and distinction to every room. Keep this in mind when planning your new home or remodelling your present one. Ask your architect or linoleum dealer for ideas and suggestions.

LINOLEUM is still in short supply

Due to shortages of essential materials, linoleum is still in short supply—but it's a good idea to plan NOW to incorporate its advantages in your home. Keep in touch with your linoleum dealer—he will be glad to advise you of the patterns and colours that are immediately available.

PRIZE SHORTCAKE

one cup sugar
one-quarter pound butter
two eggs
one cup sour cream
one-half teaspoon baking soda two teaspoons baking powder
two and one-half cups flour

Blend sugar and butter, add eggs, one at a time. Add sour cream, mixed with soda; and then flour and baking powder which have been sifted together. Mix well. Spread in two or three layer-cake tins, which have been lightly greased and lined with wax-paper. Bake for about twenty minutes to one-half hour, in an oven which starts at 350 degrees and rises to 400 degrees. When cool, spread mashed, fresh strawberries or strawberry jam between layers. On top and sides, spread: one-half pint whipping cream, which has been whipped until stiff with the whipped white of one egg, and one tablespoon powdered sugar. When the cream mixture has been spread on top and sides of cake, sprinkle granulated sugar lightly, over it, to glaze it. Then cut with scissors, small slices of tinned peaches, which have been well-drained of juice, and arrange the slices in a pattern on top of cake, with small pieces of maraschino cherries, leaving enough peach slices to make a thick ring around the outer top edge.

Carol Ann Rosen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Rosen, Palmerston Avenue, celebrated her fourth birthday at a party, dressed in white. The head table, centred with a balloon surrounded by little candy dolls, held a large birthday cake, with matching miniature cakes for the children. The place cards, balloons, toys, and streamers, were given to them as souvenirs. Present were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rosen, Ossington Avenue; and the following children: Pamela Krasman, Gordon Levine, Martin Levine; and Helen Waxman, Molly Waxman, Adele Leibowitz, and Morry Leibowitz, all of Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fine, 69 Baldwin Street, were hosts at a dinner, celebrating the bar-mitzvah of their son, Fred. About one hundred and fifty guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Fine, the latter wearing a blue crepe dinner gown, with belt of multi-coloured stones, and a corsage of pale yellow roses. Assisting were Mrs. R. Fine, grandmother of the bar-mitzvah, in blue crepe, with a corsage of pink roses; Mrs. H. J. Fine, sister-in-law of the bar-mitzvah, in powder-blue crepe, with a corsage of pink roses; and Mrs. Sidney Borshay, sister, in black crepe, trimmed with sequins, and a corsage of red roses. S. Cappe, uncle of the bar-mitzvah, acted as toastmaster. The birthday cake was in the shape of a horseshoe, with fourteen candles. Mrs. R. Book and son, Lawrence, of Montreal, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. F. Bankle and daughter, Bernice, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brozgold, of Detroit, Mich.

HANDS AT WORK...
LEARNING TO WELD
ONTARIO'S future prosperity depends directly on a sufficient volume of production to satisfy domestic needs and assure for Canada a pre-eminent place in the markets of the world. Take the metal trades for example . . . never before has the demand, both here and abroad, for the products of Ontario's metal industries been so great. Production must be increased . . . but to meet new production goals, skilled hands are needed. For them great opportunities lie ahead. Higher wages, job security, better working conditions are within easier reach of those who have mastered a skilled occupation.
Today, through the plan sponsored by the Department of Veterans' Affairs and other agencies, hundreds of young workers are being trained to meet the needs of the metal trades. Graduates of these rehabilitation courses are now ready to take their places in Ontario's industry. Available to you are veterans, well started on the road to skilled metal working trades such as tool making, blacksmithing, machine operation, iron working, pattern making, welding and forging. Seek them out with confidence. They are your future craftsmen.

Commentaries

By Dr. Harry J. Stern, Rabbi

Bruchim Ha-Baim

On Tuesday evening June 24, the opening session of the 58th annual convention of the Central Conference of American Rabbis takes place at Temple Emanu-El, in Montreal. This marks a jubilee occasion for Congregation Emanu-El since the Conference met for the first and only time outside of the United States in Montreal in 1897 under the leadership of Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, founder and organizer of America Liberal Judaism.

When the Conference met here in 1897 it was but eight years old and had a small membership. Today this Conference numbers over five hundred religious leaders who are laboring in the cause of Progressive Judaism on the American continent, and some of these members are also ministering in many other parts of the world where an urgent need has arisen for a renewed interpretation of the Jewish heritage.

Much has happened during the fifty years since the C.C.A.R. crossed for the first time the Canadian-American border. The world at large has undergone titanic upheavals and certainly Jewish life has experienced colossal changes.

In 1897 Isaac M. Wise and members of the Central Conference unanimously rejected the concept of a Jewish state in no uncertain terms and considered the Herzlian Zionist agitation as an "unpleasant episode in our history." For, when the Conference met here in Montreal, Theodore Herzl was convening the first Zionist Congress in Basle. It was easy for the Jewish Liberal religious leaders to emphasize Jewish universalism at that time because they were under the influence of 19th Century cosmopolitanism and the concepts of equality and freedom which were then being proclaimed so hopefully as men were entering into the golden 20th Century of science and democratic idealism.

However, the disciples of Isaac M. Wise have not remained static and we, the majority members of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, devoted to the hope when all mankind will be motivated by universal brotherhood, are equally nevertheless today emphasizing "the peoplehood" of Israel as well as the doctrine of Israel's universal mission to the world. Our Reform Judaism has grown wider since the days of Isaac M. Wise, in Jewish disciplines, Jewish knowledge, and Jewish observances.

Thus it is that the very distinguished president of the Central Conference, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, is also the President of the American Zionist Organization, and the Chairman of the American section of the Jewish Agency for Palestine. In Dr. Silver we have a dramatic symbolism of the meeting of the two currents in Jewish life, namely; Jewish universalism and Jewish particularism. This union of Zionism and progressive Judaism is characteristic of most of the members of the Reform rabbinate of today.

In fact, Zionism itself constitutes one of the great reforms of Jewish life along with the Reform religious Jewish movement. Both of these dynamic movements have helped in every direction to revitalize that which has become in many ways static and fossilized in Judaism and have given dynamics and purpose and hope to present day Jewish living and striving. Reform Judaism, rooted in the tradition of freedom, is part of a larger whole, namely Judaism, and Reform Judaism serves itself best when it serves the cause of Judaism and the Jewish people.

Thus, looking back to 1897, the Convention of 1947 takes on a dramatic element in the light of Jewish history. We know that the coming together of the Liberal Jewish leaders will help much to strengthen the spiritual insight of the Canadian Jewish community at large and the progressive Jewish movement in particular.

We warmly welcome our colleagues who come from near and far to hold counsel together at this critical juncture of Jewish life. We pray that the 58th convention will be fruitful and that the sojourn of the rabbis among us will be a pleasant and memorable experience for each and every one of them. We pray, too, that they be blessed as they come to our metropolis and that they be also blessed as they leave our charming city with the resolution to go forward renewed in spirit to carry on their consecrated labors in the cause of Israel and humanity. Bruchim Ha-Baim.

of the United Nations can assist toward a peaceful solution of the Palestine problem is by doing all in their power to discourage illegal immigration while the question remains sub judice."

It cited figures on immigration and spoke of representation made by Great Britain to all the European governments regarding departures of "illegal immigrant vessels." It then stated that His Majesty's government consider that it is especially incumbent on all members of the organization (the U. N.) to discourage, as far as it lies in their power, any illegal activity which is likely to increase the difficulty of finding a solution of the Palestine problem."

In concluded: "I am, therefore, instructed to request you (Mr. Lie) to appeal to all member states to take the strictest precautions, in so far as they are concerned, to prevent the transit through their territory and the departure from their ports of Jews attempting to enter Palestine illegally."

BRITISH VETERANS

ed. They bear a resemblance to the Ku Klux Klan in the United States. They spout the same type of racial and religious intolerance and, unless challenged by an intelligent opposition, could have a dangerous influence on unthinking people."

The methods adopted for combatting a Fascist group, he said, include sending hecklers to street meetings, conducting investigations into the background of an organization's leaders and exposing them. A large number of leading figures in a movement that the Forty-three Group is opposing were interned during the war for pro-Axis sympathies, he said.

When laws are violated, the Forty-three Group takes the fact to the Home Secretary and presses for prosecution. In other cases persons' records are publicized.

Mr. Flamberg, who is awaiting trial for his part in the fracas in which the speaker's stand was upset, insists the Forty-three Group does not send "muscle-men" to Fascist meetings. He conceded, however, that the presence of a strong group of hecklers often discourages speakers and makes a fiasco of their street-corner gatherings.

The leaders say there are a few Communists in the organization, but they serve, as do the preponderant majority — Laborites and Conservatives — on a non-political basis.

REPORTS

opean Jewry could come back, he said, and American Jewry could give constructive help in the following four ways:

Send over able personnel.

End confusion among American agencies operating overseas.

Aid in setting up rehabilitation programs joined with restitutions and repatriation.

Send relief for children.

Curtis E. Johnson of the Citizens Committee on Displaced Persons said that these people were "in their most productive years who through the very fact of survival would be useful."

"Large numbers of them are agricultural workers, so badly needed in America that labor must be imported every year," he added.

Mr. Johnson urged strong support for the bill introduced in Congress by Representative William G. Stratton, Republican, of Illinois, calling for admittance of 100,000 DP's a year for four years. He said that this would recapture 40 per cent of the unused quotas of the war period.

Elizabeth Hirsh, medical social service worker in Paris, described current youth conditions in three countries. In France, she said, about 1,300 children, a third of them saved from Buchenwald prison camp, are in twenty-six Jewish homes. In Hungary, 5,000 of 11,000 Jewish children are receiving some help, but the crying need is for day camps, since "thousands of young Jewish women in the former middle and upper classes are now obliged to do manual work in factories and workshops, a thing entirely new to Hungary."

She visited Rumania in May and found a situation that should be called to the attention of the world at once, she said.

She described the ghetto in Moldavia, where 35,000 famished Jews live "like animals", and she cited the "extremely pitiful physical and mental states of the Jewish children and young mothers" in Rumania.

Mrs. Catherine Varchaver of the World Jewish Congress, described the system under which 1,000 people in America have "adopted" Jewish children abroad at a cost of $300 each.

New methods of dealing with the aged, such as hospitals giving care in the home of hopeless cancer cases were discussed. Speakers saw a wide range for this type of service, which might also center in already established homes for the aged.

The conferees also tackled the health migrant problem. Jewish people suffering from arthritis, rheumatic fever, asthma and other diseases were reported to have descended in overwhelming numbers on Jewish families in Tucson, Arizona, where there are but 2,500 Jews; and in Phoenix, with about 3,500.

NOTICE TO REVIEW SUBSCRIBERS

With the issue of July 4, 1947, the Canadian Jewish Review will raise its subscription price to $2 per year; $3 for two years in Canada. The subscription price in the United States and other countries outside of Canada will be $3 per year; $5 for two years. These changes are due to the rising cost of everything that goes into the production of the Canadian Jewish Review, and the new rate will take effect with subscriptions received on July 1, 1947, and after.

tions' inquiry and any doubts about the future of Palestine.

Eliezer Kaplan, treasurer of the Executive of the Jewish Agency, announced that fourteen more Jewish settlements would be established before the United Nations General Assembly took up the report of its special committee on Palestine in September. Colonists will include some new immigrants, with experienced hands.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine criticized Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations, for circulating the British appeal requesting that all member countries discourage "illegal immigration" into the Holy Land.

A formal note of protest was given by Agency officials to both Mr. Lie and the special Committee of Inquiry on Palestine on the eve of its departure for an on-the-spot survey of the Palestine problem. The complaint asserted that the British Government not only had no justification for making the plea at this interim stage of the Holy Land investigation but that the Secretary General was "altogether out of order" in forwarding it to the fifty-one nations.

The Jewish Agency charged that Mr. Lie had gone "far beyond the scope of his functions" and had "introduced new and prejudicial factors" into the whole problem. Agency officials then asked the Secretary General, in effect, to help rectify his previous action by circulating their protest among all member countries.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

"Milk bottles don't have to be round!"

In some such words a progressive young man challenged tradition and devised a new, space-saving square milk bottle recently adopted by several leading dairies.

This reflects the kind of restless, creative thinking that makes for greater success in any line of business.

Time-saving, money-saving ideas are often surprisingly simple. And they may occur to anyone. But chances are they won't occur to you unless you look for them, and develop a habit of accepting nothing "as is".

No matter where you work, there are countless articles, products, systems, methods capable of improvement, and needs for new inventions and ideas.

When looking for things to improve, it's best to start with those most closely related to your job. Your first idea may not succeed. But keep on trying. Your efforts will be appreciated and eventually rewarded.

W.I.T.

June 20th—John J. Veroba of Lampman, Sask., applied to the Bank of Montreal for a loan of $2,000 to purchase a threshing combine. His proposition was sound . . . and the loan was made.

John Veroba's new machine was delivered on June 25th. Ten days later, with his own crops still four weeks from harvesting, he set out for Sharon Springs, Kansas. With his new combine he worked for the farmers there and in the neighbouring communities for one month to the day.

In the meantime his own crops were ripening. Early in August he turned northward to Lampman, and on his arrival, August 11th, immediately remitted to us the full $2,000 he had borrowed. His work had given him back the entire purchase price of his combine!

The total interest charge was $12.60. So pleased was this customer to possess his own combine free of all debt, and to commence his own harvesting with a happy and easy mind, that he wished to pay the Bank of Montreal a bonus to mark his appreciation.

The Bank, of course, declined the bonus, but is gladly accepting the expression of John Veroba's thanks in the form of his permission to tell his story in this advertisement.

This case is typical of the assistance which the Bank of Montreal is extending to progressive people in every walk of life and demonstrates how it makes true its promise: "When you ask for a loan at the B of M, you do not ask a favour."
